Ikon Science announces release of new software system

The innovative software creator, Ikon Science that was formed in April this year has recently announced the launch of version 2.2 of its RokDoc software package.

This reiterates Ikon's mission to re-invent and improve the "business of interpretation" and decision support methods for the upstream oil and gas industry.

RokDoc delivers a unique combination of desktop software, training and support aimed at enabling enhanced creativity and analysis among geoscientists and engineers.
